To Can Small Fruits.

If you want your small fruit, such as berries, to taste like fresh fruit, try this way of doing them up. Wash your cans thoroughly. At the rubberer, then fill as full of the cleaned fruit as possible without crushing. When the cans are full, place sugar in a saucepan allowing two pounds of granulated sugar and one pint of water to each quart can. Boil until sugar dissolves, then boil until it drops. Lift honey from the spoon, wrap the cans in a cloth wrung from hot water, then pour in the hot syrup, filling to overflowing; screw on the tops, set upside down and leave until the next day. Then see that the seals are tight and set in a cool, dark place.—Boston Globe.
